NECDO is entering its eighteen years, (2018) of work for empowerment of Afghan women, youth and children leaving behind a really challenging working year (2017) in NECDO's history. During the year 2017 we had great achievements as becoming part of International community by getting the leadership of WILPF Afghanistan group and also one of the five finalists for Aurora Humanitarian Assistance. From the other side, our network of Imams did wonderful activities on the ground but unfortunately, we lost three Imams in our network from Logar, Ghazni and Jalabad provinces. It was a challenging year especially for some of our staff working on the ground as human rights defenders and women's rights activists. The political ups and downs as well as general insecurity were threatening most of our network on the ground in almost 22 provinces. We have the more challenging year ahead with the upcoming Elections parliamentary in 2018 and presidential election in 2019, re-emergence of Taliban, increase of domestic violence with 5000<sup>1</sup> cases registration, corruption and degraded security situation would push back Afghan women movements and the risk for human rights defenders would more increased. NECDO as a step forward for peaceful Afghanistan would continue its struggle with full commitment. We had the major achievements through successful project implemented during 2017. We are hopeful to have more achievement in the 2018 with professionalism and commitment for a prosperous and peaceful Afghanistan.

NECDO as an active local NGO had good relation and communication with national, international NGOs as well as with Afghan government, especially MOWA, MoRA and MoEC, MoE, MoJ and MoHE. Working in partnership with different women NGOs was extremely learning experience. We focus on unity of women activist and human rights defenders in the challenging environment. We believe and push the women movements in Afghanistan to not be depending on the ethnicity, language, family relationships and personal benefits. We are really hopeful that women activist with unity can meet the need of the time and we hope to have major achievement with all challenges for the year 2018. We would like to thank those friends who have supported us to bring the program to its current stage by their technical, financial, moral support and active participation to improve the quality of work, and were able to undertake the initiatives to help needy women & children to improve their living condition and build upon a peaceful environment, respect, rights, awareness within their families, society, and at a large scale to take part in building up a peaceful Afghanistan. We do appreciate the support of Nahdatul Ulama Indonesia and the respective Embassy of Indonesia, the Development & Peace (CARITAS-Canada) for their support of Mobilizing Afghan Man to Protect Women Right, OSA (Open Society Afghanistan) for their technical and financial support for the project (Delegitimizing Oppressive Discourse- Training Afghan Women Rights Activists on Women's Rights in Islamic Legal Frameworks), Indonesian Embassy on Ulama Annual Peace Conference, UNAMA for Supporting Women from 10 provinces participate in NUA Annual Conference on ADB (Asian Development Bank) for conducting a study on Women Access to Financial Service and Mobility in Kabul, this report will highlight the barriers in front of women to access to financial institution and ways how to cope with them, which in result will enable the stakeholders make effective policies on women economic empowerment in the country.

We want to mention the contribution of our community; our Afghan sisters and brothers who have given their time, money and energy voluntarily to support NECDO in carrying the activities successfully. I would like to thank all members NECDO Board of Directors despite busy life they contributed to NECDO with effective and constructive instructions and suggestions. I like to thank Mr. Fazal Ghani Kakar as Managing Director who struggled for NECDO internal management and staff Capacity building as well as all NECDO hard working staff in different projects during the year 2017, Ms. Parina Jahed, and all staff members. We also cordially thank the organizations and individuals who continue with their supporting NECDO financially and technically to undertake the activities planned for the year 2018. May God (Almighty) bless and help we all and I wish we all success and prosperity in the upcoming year and years forwards.

A Quick Review the year 2017 Achievements and Challenges

By Dr. Fazal Ghani Kakar (NECDO Managing Director)

NECDO with aim “Light a Candle” is moving forward and continues its journey towards a prosperous Afghanistan. As a dedicated Afghan citizen and the Managing director of NECDO I had to carry the responsibilities despite the challenges of insecurity, lack of funding, high turnover in staff, and facing corruption in government and nongovernment organizations, which caused many hurdles for the progress of the work. A managing Director is not only a position of leadership, but also management, one of guidance, accountability and making of difficult decisions. You lead an internal team, liaise and work with various actors domestically and internationally, report to Board of Governors while also thinking outside of the box for achieving your organizational goals and annual objectives in a fragile and conflict affected state. This requires leadership experience, a strong local and international network, diplomacy and negotiation skills, ability to think outside of the box and resilience to perform and produce results under great pressure.

During the year 2017 we focused to achieve the annual goals suggested according to NECDO’s Strategic plan 2016-2018. We focused on funding and keeping the external relations with different civil society actors, government concerned departments and community influential leaders. The project I really enjoy its achievement was: 1. Mobilizing Afghan Man to Promote Women Rights, Democracy and Peace, with the financial support of Development & Peace CARITAS Canada, giving awareness and mobilizing 600 individuals (imams, community leaders, youths and women activists) in 4 provinces on women rights and protection of their rights which has been effective and brings its fruit slowly and gradually in change of the mind set up of our confined and conservative communities. 2. Delegitimizing Oppressive Discourse Training Afghan Young Women Leaders and Women Rights Activists with the financial support of OSA was a dynamic project successfully implemented in which 43 young women graduates of Law, Sharia Faculty, graduates of Darul Ulum and young women employees of CSOs got trained in 9 month course. These young women through a proper academic program were trained comparatively on modern women studies and Islamic perspective of women feminism. These young women are involved in a network to defend women rights upon their completion of the course. 3. Giving information on Financial Services to Women and their Mobility in Kabul, the project supported by ADB started in the 4th quarter of 2017 and will be ended in the 1 quarter of 2018 is a unique project which consisted a survey and study on women mobility and their access to financial services in Kabul, along with raising awareness through workshop, campaigns and publications is an effective mean towards women economic empowerment and social participation. 4. Our work with WILPF and Ulama network on building peace and eradication of VAW was impressive to me during the year 2017.

We also understand that we have a more challenging year ahead as in the absence of a political solution to the conflict, widespread hostilities are likely to persist throughout 2018. Quite how this will impact population movements is unclear, however possible flashpoints include the arrival of US reinforcements (both human and material) related to the new US South Asia policy – which has already started – and the 2018 parliamentary elections. In this context, it is expected that the Afghan people will continue to pay a heavy price with increase in fighting. From the other side the political instability is getting worsen day by day and people are losing trust on the government. The very good steps taken by NUG on OGP is one of the key tool that we can help Afghan government in this time of need by Government and Public partnership Program through professionals and experts skills contribution to achieve the SDGs by the chosen time line.

We understand the challenges and we will keep moving forward with the hope of contributing to peace and development of our beloved motherland.

The major plan for 2018 NECDO has to play a major role in the implementation of 1325 by raising fund and implementing project at least in 5 major zones of Afghanistan. The need for sustainable peace is as important as need for water or oxygen. The NUA of network must play a crucial on bottom to top approach as the top bottom approach has not been effective in Afghanistan. We emphasis on the importance of the role of women in peace building by promoting their ability and capacity throughout the process of peace building, in order to ensure peace and stability especially when the upcoming election is very much challenging as war lords, are prominent and hardliner opposition are also getting in the political scenario. We struggle to mobilize community's influential leaders, imams and youth to promote and protect women's right with especial focus on the right of political participation. We also struggle to work on the crucial need of society for the returnees and IDPs through multidimensional activities.

We also plan to bridge the gap between government and public by establishment of a consortium under title of "Building Prosperous Afghanistan" which will be an umbrella network bringing new energies, expertise and different filed to work with Afghan government Institutional capacity building.

Sexual harassment and violence against women is a dilemma with all struggle and investment by international community we had the highest number of cases recorded. The need to work in more of collaborations with like-minded organization and outreaching the programs in the remote areas are necessary.

The last but not the least our role as country representative of WILPF is important international Identity. We will struggle to implement the already set up plan of action for the year 2018-2019 through member's contribution and fund raising.

The lessons we have learned during the year 2017 are many but I would like to share the key few points:

Working together with other like-minded organization is making the movement powerful and long lasting impact is given to the society. Unfortunately, still the civil society is more of project oriented and therefore, mostly, NGOs are working with mindset of inside the box. We need to change this notion to a social movement. We should struggle for ourselves and our society

The second best learning point was that in most of our activities we tried to bring in those vulnerable community members that have no link with NGOs and have been deprived of social activities. Many young girls, adolescent women, teenagers, women government employees and benefited from our programs, one can see the changes in their communication, behavior and abilities, that some time one feel sorry that how many women with wonderful abilities have no opportunity to show up her skills. We will focus on outreach program on regular basis.

Zarina who is a young active women coming from a poor and prodigious community in our (Delegitimizing Oppressive Discourse) but she was the most intelligent woman, she was having high numbers and she got high scores in internship program as well.

Ms. Gulmina was a woman of 50 years old and we had no plan for high age to set in the class but she begged us to not enrolled her, as student but give her space to learn and bring positive change in her life. We did not enroll her in our class but she was the most committed member of the training sessions. That is why we see the provision of opportunities for women will further strength their social participation

Bringing a new and positive understanding of Islam is a must in our society; working with Egyptian and Indonesian scholars was added value to our work. Our Imam Network (NUA) members got more moderate approach of Islamic teachings.

NECDO “our office, our home” strategy was very successful in internal management where we had employees from all ethnicity background, with gender perspective and multidimensional work environment. It was wonderful that our awareness on the issue of sexual harassment at work place has empowered us to provide protection and safe environment for all our employees.

With hope for a better tomorrow for all of Afghans, we would take another step forward with hope, commitment, transparency and love for peace.

Wishing everyone a successful year and I thank NECDO’s Board of Director for their time o time contribution and support especially Dr. Faramarz Jahanbeen who provided it us a lot of technical support and professional contribution. And I thank all NECDO’s staff, volunteers, internes and sister network for their important contributions. Fore, sure without their contribution we could not achieve. What we have on hand now.

Best Regards

Dr. Fazal Ghani Kakar

2. Women need to understand their rights from Islamic perspective, from the international conventions and to be empowered to help others and provide support to others is important and our youths in this program made us to understand that it was the best project that polished the hidden qualities and abilities of youths
3. Women who got awareness on both modern women studies and Islamic feminist perspective are better able to work within the communities in Afghanistan and have their impact on the change of mentalities within the conservative circles.

1. Summary:

NECDO in partnership with Development and Peace (D&P) successfully implemented the project “Mobilizing Afghan Men to Protect Women Rights Democracy and Peace” referred to as AF-3226. The project started in March 2017 right after the agreement was signed between both parties (NECDO & DP). The project covers four provinces of Kapisa (Northeast), Kabul (Districts), Khost (South) and Balkh (Northeast). The project Goal is to enhance & promote women rights, peace and democracy by conducting awareness training, and establishment of community working groups (CWGs) and to bridge the gap between the Community elders, religious leaders, you groups and women activists.

The project Objectives:

To Develop a standard training manual on mobilizing Afghan man to protect woman rights based on national and international laws, conventions and declarations as well as five core rights of women in Islam (Right to Education, Right of Marriage-Divorce, Right of Ownership and possession, Right of social and political participation, Right of Inheritance) in Dari & Pashto languages.

To identify 200 Imams, 200 youths, 200 women activist, for establishment of CWGs in 4 targeted provinces.

To conduct 6 trainings of 2 full days for 150 individuals in each province total of which is (24 trainings of 2 days in 4 provinces comes-6 two day workshops in each province)

To hold one provincial workshop (Conference) on annual base and bring together the beneficiaries to share their views and build strategies, Provincial Workshop (Conference) will be conducted for the whole direct beneficiaries.

2. The Project Achieved Activities:

NECDO in 24 (6workshops x4 provinces=24) two day awareness raising workshops conducted in 4 provinces of Kapisa, Kabul, Khost and Balkh as covered 600 influential people of the community, such as Imams, Community leaders, Youths and Women Activists who gave a strong Written and verbal commitment to NECDO during the workshops and CWG conference to work and advocate for the protection of women rights in their respective communities

In each of the trainings NECDO training team had to take written and verbal commitment from each of the trainee and participant to work with 10 more people within their communities through sharing the knowledge and information he/she got in the training and encourage them to be part of these social change of attitude towards women in their communities, thus 6000 people from different walks of life are now volunteer advocates for protecting women rights, democracy and peace.

As the workshops successfully completed in 4 provinces based on the project activity plan developed, we now have 4 CWGs (Community working Groups) from among the men, women and youths who got awareness in the trainings held and are interlinked in CWG to fulfill their commitments, they have signed at the end of the training. NECDO trainer by the end of training selected the most active and alert participants to become member of the CWG in each province.

NECDO has developed a database with the names, addresses, contacts of all the beneficiaries of the project in result of this now NECDO is able to mobilize a large number of men and women in the 4 provinces to defend women rights and do campaign (GBV in particular) or protest any violence within a short period of time. And work for the MDGs and SDGs.

Based on the plan developed by NECDO at the start of the project the objective was successfully achieved NECDO has covered 600 people Imams, youths and women activists in 4 provinces of Kapisa, Kabul, Khost and Balkh, However, the figures differed from one province to the other

Province	Male	Female	Total
Kapisa	100	50	150
Kabul	103	47	150
Khost	73	77	150
Balkh	66	84	150
Total	342	258	600

4CWGs were established according to the plan and now they are active in their respective provinces. NECDO has all the contacts and address in its database and do follow up time to time for mobilization.

We learned that change in behavior is not an easy job but it is possible

3. Changes in Behavior:

A change in behavior takes place for a large number of influential individuals who affect others, especially on the issue of elimination of domestic violence against women. Based on the evaluation and follow up from the beneficiaries in the project many cases were narrated on change of behavior in the communities towards women rights. As the following few factual stories were narrated by the members of CWGs:

Sikandar Khan one of the direct male beneficiaries of the project workshop from Khost province said: “I had decided to not allow my daughter Sakina to go to school after the 6th grade, when she was 14 years old, now in this workshop I understood how important is the education in particular for women, and this is her right, why should I deprive her, God will ask me if I do so, look you told us about the 5 rights of women in this workshop (right to education, right of inheritance, right to marriage, right of ownership and right of social participation) now I have decided to even allow her to complete her higher education and go to university and become a professional teacher in order to serve herself and her country”.

Arezo one of direct female beneficiaries of the project workshop from Kabul province Shakardara district said: “In our neighborhood a 16 years old girl was forcefully engaged to a 40 years old by her brothers, she was very upset because the man she was married to was from a very bad background. I wanted to help her, but I could not because her brothers were armed and they were dangerous people. I contacted the district police and the department of the human rights in the district office to explain them the situation of the girl, the district police and the human rights department handled the case and in few month they were able to solve the problem in the favor of the girl I was very proud and happy to see that girl released from the draw of the brothers. I humbly request NECDO to keep up conducting such training to aware people from their rights and n particular women rights in the rural areas where bigger number of women suffer from various sorts of violence and discriminations.

Mujtaba one of the direct female beneficiaries of the Project workshop from Kapisa province said: “A girl who was in 9th grade her family didn't allow her to attend school after 9th grade, as she was too upset, she drunk fuel and burnt herself with the rest. After being admitted to hospital for several days she died. I reported the case to the human rights department of the district, the case was handled by the department and the family was ashamed and sad of their behavior towards their daughter, as the father was crying was shouting do not ban your daughter from school let them educate themselves”.

Lima one of direct beneficiaries of the Project workshop from Khost province said: “One of my classmates used to be beaten and tortured by her brother and he was trying not to allow her to go to school, I talked with her family, mother and father and told them about the benefits of education and knowledge, I convinced her family now her family allowed her to go school and continuing her education, and I am so happy to have helped a girl and I am sure this work of mine will light her future, I would also thank you friends from NECDO to have this effective program on awareness on the rights of women and making man understand the rights of the women”.

Ali Ahmad one of direct beneficiaries of the Project workshop from Balkh province said:

“A man in our neighborhood used to torture his wife every day, I despite my several times advice to him and informing him of the rights of his wife in both national and international laws, he still continued torturing her. I finally decided to informed the police and help that woman the police arrest the husband, he was kept in custody of police for someday after that he was released, I met him again and told him if he would listen to his advice, he would not face such a situation, he confessed that he was wrong and he will never torture his wife again, now they are happily living with each other.

4. Suggestions from the Beneficiaries:

During the training and discussions with the participation the following suggestions came up from the participants in Kabul as well as in the provinces focusing on women economic empowerment.

Women should be economically empowered, therefore, Afghan women chamber of commerce must conduct national and international advocacy for women economic contribution and also in coordination with MoWA should conduct regular monitoring and evaluation from women business holders and markets in Kabul and the provinces. In addition, overall, countries policy should give priority for women's role in economic contributions.

Donors must support women business for a longer period of time not for the intention of project based but for a sustainable business in future as start up for their business with a transparent mechanism.

Provision of financial capacity building programs and Awareness programs about financial institutions for women,

Conducting of training on usage of new financial technology for women such as; ATM, E-top up, Internet Banking, etc. (women who needs to receive financial services from financial institutions don't have enough information about usage of modern financial technology).

Improvement of transport services in Kabul city. Currently more than 7 million populations are living in Kabul city, while only one government and one private transport companies are operating. In addition it is important that government should provide special cars for women who are the breadwinners of their families and work or study until late hours, particularly during night and peak hours.

Increase Awareness on the rules and laws on sexual harassment, violence against women and abuses. Currently women are facing with sexual harassment, physical touches, gender based discrimination, languages based discriminations and abuses, because low awareness of men and drivers. (Sexual harassment is one of the biggest barrier for women social and economic empowerment)

Awareness through local Shura (Council) heads, i.e Mulla (Religious Scholars), Wakil Guzar (Representative of Residential Area) to youth and families. Local influential leaders have strong and effective roles in Afghan community, their charisma and leadership is the reason which common people are accepting their thoughts. If they engage to solve these problems, it will be more effective.

Conducting mass media information campaigns on women's sexual harassment preventions, as well as relevant provisions of laws by MoIC and MoJ.

Women's Role in Peace Building

Project: Strengthening and expanding WILPF – Afghanistan Group in Ningarhar (Eastern Zone)

- 1. 4 Eastern provinces (Ningarhar, Laghman, Kunar & Nooristan) covered*
- 2. 125 Women mobilized during the regional conference*
- 3. Provincial Government Supported WILPF Afghanistan Group*

Linkage to WILPF International Strategy

Afghanistan WILPF group aims to promote culture of peace and enhance for elimination of conflict and violence by empowerment, involvement of women, youth & men from different walks of life through advocacy, awareness raising and their active engagement for peace and justice with the a determined aim and full commitment. Women in Afghanistan in general and in eastern one in particular are in dire need of mobilization to raise their voices against the violence and oppression due to cultural and traditions conservativeness.

This event organized by WILPF Afghanistan Group in the eastern zone was in fact a strong first step towards mobilization of the women in that part of the country, because this conference was conducted as the stakeholders from Government institutions, such as PDMOWA, PD AIHRC, PD MORA, PD, MOIC and CSOs including a big number of women were present. The causes of the violence in this part of the country are conservative traditions and culture, lack of women access to social life and education as well as the insecurity were addressed. The emphasis in the speeches and the discussions in the conference were on how to promote women's social participation, provide protection and engage women in peace. A large number of young women volunteered to be members of WILPF Afghanistan Group and work with vision that WILPF-Afghanistan group works for Afghanistan free of war and violence, where social justice and freedom for everyone is prevailed and women can play an active role for sustainable peace and aim to bring together women in Afghanistan as peace makers and enhance their role in the development, freedom and prosperity in order to be able to become active and constructive member of the global movement for peace and freedom (WILPF).

I strongly emphasize that if you understand our responsibility and obligations, we will naturally be peaceful. ## Women Economic Empowerment & Provision of Information on Financial Services & Resources

Project: Strengthening Gender-Inclusive Growth in Central and West Asia – Pilot Project in Afghanistan-Bringing Finance Information and Assistance Services Closer to Kabul Women

- 1. Commenced in 2017*
- 2. To be accomplished in 2018*

Summary:

Lack of access to both traditional & formal financial resources is a major challenge for Afghan women. Formal financial institutions are a relatively modern phenomenon with major constraints such as lack of literacy, limited access and awareness, strict formal documentation requirements, and high cultural access issues hindering its growth. In contrast, traditional financial institutions are more lax in their requirements but still highly exclusive and male dominated. With a new emphasis on women's economic empowerment, increasing women's access to financial resources becomes a major area of priority, especially since ADB's current portfolio has no projects dedicated to the financial empowerment of women in Afghanistan. In consistence with the key objectives of this project plays a major role in prompting gender-inclusive growth in Afghanistan.

The project has 3 components; i) Research study on travel patterns of female travelers in Kabul; ii) On-site finance information; and iii) Capacity building for improved financial literacy and life skills of women.

Progress Overview:

During the reporting period, NECDO made notable progress on several of the following key project activities:

- Finance information brochure developed and printed,
